

Resources From Podcast Guest Olivia Allery

Mending the Sacred Hoop (Duluth)

- non-profit that has resources for advocates to better understand violence against Indigenous women
- podcast hosted by Cinnamon Bankey and Rebecca Balog with the same title, Mending the Sacred Hoop

Ain Dah Yung Center (St. Paul)

- Supports the wholeness of the family and keeping Indigenous families together
- Various programs such youth sheltering, street outreach, and family advocacy

ICWA Law Center (Minneapolis)

- Legal services for families affected by child protection and always pushes for the courts' compliance with the Indian Child Welfare Act

StrongHearts Native Helpline (Statewide)

- 24/7 helpline that provides confidential and anonymous support for domestic and sexual violence

Minnesota Indigenous Women's Resource Center (Minneapolis)

- Offers a variety of services relating to domestic violence, family support, maternal child health, and housing

Some others

- Division of Indian Work (Minneapolis)
- Native American Community Clinic (NACC) (Minneapolis)
- Indian Health Board (IHB) (check your area for location)
- American Indian Center (check your area for location)
- American Indian Family Service Center (St. Paul and East Metro)

